DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

In response to applicant's amendment received 12/15/05, all requested changes have been entered.

Response to Arguments

As indicated by the advisory action sent 11/21/05, all claims now entered (from 10/17/05) are allowable except for claim 8. Please see the rejection for claim 8 below.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 3-7, and 9-16 are allowed. The reasons for allowance has been address in the previous office action dated 7/15/05.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2622

1. Claim 8

- Venkatraman disclose in Fig. 1a a device embedded with a web access device. Venkatraman further discloses in column 4, lines 18-28 that this device could be embedded in a printer and can obtain files for the printer. However, Venkatraman does not go into detail about the conversion of this data before printing. The secondary reference, Tang, discloses in column 4, lines 38-63 a decription of the job retention functionality of a printer. Specifically, lines 48-50 discloses that the print job may or may not be stored as a rasterized file (i.e. that it is previously converted to imaging data prior to printing). Please also see column 6, lines 65-column 7, lines 1-25 for a description of the simple retention technique.
- The Examiner would like to note that although the printing device in Maeda et al (previously cited) does not necessarily previously convert the data, the access of information from the web using a printer is known (i.e. web pull printing). The processing of this data can be done in the conventional way, such as in Maeda, or in the retention way, such as in Tang.
- Both the Venkatraman and Tang references are in the art of printing data. The Examiner believes that the obtaining of data from various sources (e.g. a computer, internet, server, etc.) is an obvious choice of design based upon the needs of the user. That is why the Examiner believes the Venkatraman reference would enhance the functionality of the Tang reference by enabling the printer in Tang to obtain information from another source (i.e. the internet). The motivation for this is so that the printer can have expanded functionality based upon the needs of an user.

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Yixing Qin whose telephone number is (571)272-7381. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 9:30-6:00.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Edward Coles can be reached on (571)272-7402. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
